The Age of FAT
Need No Longer Be Feared

Soon after 30, multitudes of people gain excess fat. Many at earlier ages. A great reason lies in a weakened gland, which largely controls nutrition. Food that should create fuel and energy goes to fat.

Since this discovery, doctors the world over find the gland factor to be the over-fat. Slender figures all around you are due to this method now.

In Tablet Form
Marmola prescription tablets present this new-day method in ideal form. A famous laboratory prepares them to fit the average case. People have used them for 24 years—millions of boxes of them. The results are seen in every circle. Those slender figures, now so common, are not due to starving.

Every box contains the formula. So users know, and doctors know, just how Marmola acts. You are taking in Marmola what the best physicians use.

Fight fat in this modern way. Combat the cause. Take Marmola—four tablets daily—until weight comes down to normal. As the fat goes, watch your vim come back. Then tell your friends what did it. Don't wait longer—start this way now.

Indian Village Trio Sings on Lecture-Recital Program

A PROGRAM, which brought to Marion as guest singers members of the Indian Village trio of Upper Sandusky, was thoroughly enjoyed by members and patrons of the Lecture-Recital club, last night in the ballroom at Hotel Harding. Completing the program were numbers by members of the club. Following the presentation of the program active members of the club held a short business session.

Guest singers included Mrs. George Denman, first soprano, Mrs. Allen Moser, second soprano, and Miss Helen Stecher, contralto. Their accompaniments were played by Mrs. Thomas McElowney, also of Upper Sandusky. Members of the club taking part in the program were Mrs. Harold K. Mouser, Mrs. Earl N. Hale and Mrs. Lena Schaber. Bricker, Miss Elizabeth Pace, Mrs. William Ackerman Jr. and Miss Elfrida Horn.

The program was one of the most delightful of the club's calendar and afforded an evening of varied music and entertainment. The guest singers presented their numbers in two groups both of which included favorite numbers with music patrons. Their presentations were in lovely harmony combined with pleasing tonal quality and technique. The first group included "Serenade," Strauss, "Who Is Sylvia," Schubert, and "The Swan," Saint-Saens, and their second group "Tree," Rasbach-Harris, "The Lure of the Gypsy Trail," Jones, and "The Holiday," Curran. Equally pleasing were the accompaniments played by Mrs. McElowney.

A piano ensemble composed of Mrs. Bricker, Mrs. Ackerman, Miss Pace and Miss Horn opened the program with a two-piano number, "Valse Brillant," Moszkowski. They also closed the program with a presentation of Schubert's "Military March," opus 51. Mrs. Mouser played two brilliant piano numbers, "Reflets dans l'eau," Debussy, and "Feux Follets," Philippe and particularly pleasing were Mrs. Hale's group which included "I Have a Rendezvous with Death," Horstfall, "Valse," Russell, and "Nocturne," Curran. Her accompaniments were played by Mrs. Mouser.

The program was preceded by a meeting of the piano section of the club at the home of Mrs. Harold K. Mouser of south Prospect street, when the members continued their study of modern French composers.

The girl they talked about was charming, but—

LUX for underthings keeps them like new in spite of frequent washing Underthings absorb perspiration. Avoid offending... Protect daintiness this way:

Wash this 4-minute way: 1 tablespoon of Lux does 1 day's undies—stockings, too! Squeeze suds through fabric, rinse twice, shake.

Avoid ordinary soaps—cakes, powders, chips. These often contain harmful alkali which weakens threads, fades color. Lux has no harmful alkali.

Never rub with cake soap. Rubbing tends to streak colors, weaken fabrics.

For dishes, too
Protect your hands—Lux in the dishpan gives heavy work—costs only 1¢ a day!

LUX

A HOUSE PARTY—charming girls, Dorothy especially. And yet... "Weren't you shocked at Dorothy?" they whispered... "Why does she wear her underthings a second day? Everybody perspires a little and it's so easy to offend."

HOW can she take such chances with personal daintiness? Underthings constantly absorb perspiration acids and odors. These become noticeable so soon. Fresh lingerie each day is actually more important than the daily bath. It is so easy to wear fresh things every day! For Lux is made to remove perspiration acids and odors completely, yet saves colors and fabrics, keeps them like new. And it takes only four minutes or less. Follow this dainty habit—Lux your underthings and stockings after every wearing. Anything safe in water is safe in Lux.

Daily Proverb—"If you pursue good with la-mains; if you pursue evil with pleasure, the pleasure passes away and the evil remains."

Twenty persons were hurt in clashes between "royalists, socialists and pacifists" in Paris Sunday. Pacifists in clashes! Reads a bit odd, doesn't it?

The Illinois general assembly has voted $20-000,000 to aid the jobless of that state. Now if it can be kept away from the corrupt politicians, an amount like that should afford real relief.

The people of Japan did not get the news that their government was sending an army to Shanghai till last Sunday. Another straw to show that it is sometimes the case that we have to go away from home to get the news.

It must be something of a relief to a man of Mr. Mellon's standing, that he is out of a position where cheap-state politicians feel that they can make a hit with the "peepul" by snapping at his heels.

From down in South Carolina a woman has been writing to Governor Roosevelt, of New York state, that he has been pronouncing "as" long when he should not. As a general rule, the men in public who give their time to the absolutely correct pronunciation of words, do little else.

From Tokio comes the report that soviet Russia is massing troops near Japan. If the trouble in China spreads, the United States should exercise sense and prevent it from becoming another "World" war by staying out of it.

Senator Frazier, of North Dakota, proposes the insertion, in the Kellogg-Briand pact, of a clause barring either the waging of or preparation for war. Can it be that this North Dakotan doesn't realize that such a stipulation would be just as readily nullified by secret understandings, or otherwise, as is the treaty as it now stands?

The president of the London critics' organization, back home from a visit in this country, tells his fellow-countrymen that the theater over here is "vulgar and indecent" and that but ten of the fifty-three plays he saw here could pass British censors. If ten could get past, it's evident that the British censors have been letting down the bars.

Vincent Coll, who was so often referred to in New York City papers as the "most feared" of the city's gangsters that the young hoodlum began to believe it himself, was shot down in a telephone booth, Monday, by another gangster armed with a machine gun. Wonder if it would attract police attention in New York were some gangster to start making the rounds with a mountain howitzer, or something like that?

Leveling Off When It's Over.
It's not too soon to speculate concerning the assets that can be set down as arising from the hard times when they are over.

The most important one may be a new attitude toward taxation, or rather the conviction to put teeth in the old attitude.

Taxes are bound to go up this year and perhaps next year. It follows that they will stay up until long after recovery has been accepted by the last skeptic. Then what?

They will come down, but how far? Will the rough years convince business, which is by rights the monitor of government by virtue of being its financial backer, that government must be run on a sound basis comparable to the most efficient business enterprises? Or will the open-handed attitude that characterized business in the full years of the second decade continue?

Tax complaining is proverbial. The trouble always has been that a minority was the complainant. The majority either said nothing, or encouraged government to expand like a toy balloon until it broke and there was a mess to clean up.

The national congress right now is hesitating between giving the balloon another puff, or deflating it and staying on the safe side. Municipal and state governments, never having been kidded into believing they were economic buffers, have gone over to a policy of deflation.
A congressional faction with a "progressive" flavor, however, still believes it can fool good times into coming back by making Uncle Sam strike a pose of free-spending.

The public, meanwhile, doesn't mind admitting it has cold feet. Once out of the economic recession, once out from under staggering tax bills when ability to pay has been halved and quartered and it never will be allowed to happen again, is the resolve. If that attitude isn't forgotten when plentiful years come again, it will be a tangible asset of the last two years of economic hardship.

There Isn't Any Such.

Something like four years ago, to make known to the country his attitude with regard to a candidacy to succeed himself in the presidency, Calvin Coolidge made the announcement that he did "not choose to run."

It was a plain statement, which should have been accepted at its face value, but it was not.
For weeks, even months, it was the subject of conversation and newspaper comment the country over. Carloads of perfectly good newsprint were wanted in presenting to newspaper readers the views of political leaders and political writers on what the then president might have meant by his announcement and just about every possible construction was placed on it excepting the true one.

There is a possibility that history is about to repeat itself, in this occasion in connection with the utterance of a notable figure in the Democratic party.

To make plain his attitude in the present political situation, the Hon. Alfred E. Smith issued a formal statement, Sunday, in which, after setting out that he felt he owed it to his friends and the millions of men and women who voted for him in 1928 to make clear his position, he went on to say:

"If the Democratic national convention after careful consideration should decide that it wants me to lead, I will make the fight; but I will not make a pre-convention campaign to secure the support of delegates."

"By action of the Democratic national convention of 1928 I am the leader of my party in the nation. With a full sense of the responsibility thereby imposed, I shall not in advance of the convention either support or oppose the candidacy of any aspirant for the nomination."

Another plain, simple statement of attitude, and a very sensible one, all things considered, but the political writers and dopesters do not appear inclined to accept it as such. Some see in it a "rule or ruin" policy. Some see it as a bomb thrown with the intention of wrecking the candidacy of Governor Franklin D.
Roosevelt. Many constructions are being given it, rather than what is probably the true one—that he doesn't intend to place himself in a position in which, were the nomination offered him, he could not in honor accept it.

The former governor's attitude is that of a potential candidate, rather than an active one.
"I know a lot of people consider me a candidate," he told newspaper men Monday. "A lot of people always did, but nothing I have said makes me a candidate. Nobody ever was nominated who didn't make a pre-convention campaign. . . . A candidate is the man who goes out seeking delegates. I haven't, and I'm not going to. In 1924 and 1928 people were out working for me before the campaign to get delegates. In 1932 no such thing is going on.
I have no headquarters, no money."

It can not be charged that the position taken by Mr. Smith is in any sense of the word a violation of ethics. As titular leader of the Democratic party he refuses, in advance of the convention, either to support or oppose any aspirant for the nomination. As one who is willing to accept the nomination if it is offered him, he will not, by act or utterance, bar himself from its acceptance. And as for willingness to accept the nomination, where is there a Democrat in the public eye who would not accept such an honor were it offered to him by a national gathering of his party? There simply isn't any such.

Economy Is No Pleasure.

A public employe must not be blamed for seeing red when it is suggested that his salary ought to be cut.

A public employe must not rant and rave too much, however, lest he make himself ridiculous. The sad fact is that those who already are standing in the chilly water insist that he get in, too, which is perfectly human.

Reasonableness is needed in abundance to get through any discussion of salary cutting, public or private, without getting and giving black eyes. There is the eternal gap between what would be pleasant and what would be right to be bridged.

It would be pleasant if there were no reasons for cutting salaries, and more pleasant yet for the salary receivers, if what reasons there are could be ignored and the salaries be continued at prosperity levels forever. But private business has had to forego pleasantness to balance the books.

It would be pleasant in a general way, perhaps, to let private business carry the hhd and support government at its customary level—pleasant, but most unnatural and obviously unwise.

Deflation—economic readjustment—hard times are grim facts that the nation recognizes, and is resolved to move out of the way as soon as possible. There are certain things to be done, most of them unpleasant. Salary cutting, to reduce expenditures to a safe point in the interest of survival, has been and will continue to be one of them.

Business, being dependent on itself, has acted directly. Government, being an organization supported by the public, is not so likely to act directly.

The steel skeleton of the first of the big structures of the "Radio City" in New York is now up, but it will be some time before the people of the metropolis will know whether the Rockefeller group is to be an artistic dream or an architectural nightmare.

Divers found the hatches of the ill-fated submarine, M-2, open, thus showing that it was human fallibility rather than mechanical which caused the loss of the sixty-one members of its crew. There is this to be said in connection with the tragedy, the finding of the divers shows that death came mercifully quick to at least a majority of the crew.

Senator Hiram Bingham, of Connecticut, has offered a resolution which, if adopted, will boost the mileage budget of the senate something like $20,000, as under it the secretaries of senators would draw mileage. Why should not the senators include the traveling expenses of their wives and families? Surely the latter should be given preference over secretaries in getting in on a good thing.

UNOFFICIAL "OBSERVER."

Editorial Opinion.

TOO MANY COUNTIES.

A great deal is being said these days about economy in government, but all too little attention is being paid to one economy so great that only the most astigmatic can overlook it—the consolidation of counties.

If ever there was a need for the great number of counties into which the majority of the states have been divided, that need has passed with the coming of modern methods of transportation and communication. The state of Arizona is proof of the statement, if proof is needed. Arizona, with its 113,900 square miles of area, is larger than Ohio with its eighty-eight counties and Kentucky with its 120 counties, with West Virginia thrown in for good measure. And Arizona has only fourteen counties. Yet it ranks near the top as a well-governed and progressive state.

The arguments in favor of consolidation of counties are coming to be well known. As local units of government they claim the greater part of our taxes; they perform the functions of government that are closest to us. But there is no longer any need for every man to live within shouting distance of a county seat. A reduction of the number of counties by half would still permit the efficient functioning of local government and would result in enormous savings of tax moneys.

The arguments against consolidation of counties are chiefly in the mouths of officeholders in the various court-houses. It is time to silence many of these arguments.—Cincinnati En-

OLD ROMAN STORE.

Ostia was the vast emporium of Rome, where powerful corporations had the task of providing wheat for the plebe and luxuries for the patrician, the emperor and his court. Excavations indicate that there was a great deal of wealth in the city.

What is entirely new in the archeological discoveries is a department store where imported goods were displayed for visitors who flocked to see the beauties of Ostia. There is nothing new under the sun and even in ancient times a department store proved to be heaven for bargain hunters and special sales not only of rare jewels, but silk, embroideries and other imported goods took place.—Los Angeles Times.

When Hiccoughs Persist.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

When the newspapers printed the story of the man who had hiccoughed for fourteen consecutive days, nationwide sympathy was aroused. Over 10,000 letters and telegrams were sent to the afflicted individual. These offered suggestions for overcoming the persistent hiccough. Many of the suggestions were tried by the physicians, but without success. Finally, an operation was performed which relieved the hiccoughs.

This was an unusual case. As a rule, hiccoughs do not last a long time. They may continue for a few minutes, or even a few hours, but rarely longer. Some persons seem much more susceptible than others. I have known people to suffer periodically from this condition, while most of us never have it.

The nerves supplying the diaphragm and the muscles used in breathing, become irritated or inflamed. This is followed by hiccough. Disturbance of the stomach, particularly after a heavy meal, may produce it.

It may be a symptom of an infection somewhere in the body. This may be in the liver, the gall-bladder, the stomach, or even in the tonsils or teeth.

It is often encountered by surgeons after an operation. It is found in some cases of appendicitis and as a complication in severe forms of typhoid fever. Hiccoughing may be associated with a constitutional disorder, such as hysteria or epilepsy. It may follow injuries of the brain.

It is amusing to listen to some of the suggestions for cure. "Frighten the patient,"
"Have him hold his breath, salt, or sugar," "Liberal doses of snuff, salt, or sugar," "Have him drink Indian remedy, oil of cloves, as well as the advocates. Space does not permit a listing of all the "remedies." One of the simplest remedies and often successful is milk of magnesia. A few teaspoonfuls does may give relief. Injections of certain chemicals have been successful in recent severe cases.

Hiccoughing should never be neglected. The longer it is permitted to persist, the more difficult it is to cure. If it continues it causes ill-effects on the body. It is always best to consult your physician before trying any of the so-called "cures."

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES

L.R.B. Q.—What can be done to check excessive perspiration?

A.—This disturbance is usually due to a nerve condition. Improve your general health and you will notice results throughout your system. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

Mrs. E.G. Q.—I have ulcers of the stomach.
Have been on a diet of milk and cream and gaining in weight tremendously. What does the milk do to the system—is it healing, or was it given to me as a food? I can not afford to gain any more weight.

A.—The milk is given as nourishment and is easily digested, therefore, soothing and healing under the circumstances. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

Mrs. B.P. Q.—What causes red spots on the body, that leave the skin dry and scaly?

A.—This is probably due to eczema. Send self-addressed, stamped envelope for full particulars and repeat your question.

J.L.P. Q.—Is a glass of water at night before retiring advisable?

A.—What should a young man aged twenty-one, six feet and two inches tall weigh?

A.—Not harmful.

A.—He should weigh about 172 pounds. This is about the average weight for one of this age and height, as determined by examination of a large number of persons. A few pounds above or below the average is a matter of little or no significance.

E.F.G. Q.—What causes an acid condition of the stomach?

A.—This may be due to faulty diet and poor elimination.—Copyright, 1932, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

N.X.X. Q.—What do you advise for Vincent's Angina?

A.—Have your doctor outline the proper treatment.—Copyright, 1932, King Features Syndi-

Fine Roman Exhibition.

BY GUGLIELMO EMANUEL

Rome, Feb. 9.—INS.—With Prince Umberto, heir to the Italian throne officiating, the "Exhibition of Rome in the Nineteenth Century," has been formally opened. In Italian, it is called "La Mostra di Roma Nell'Ottocento."

Organized by the Institute di Studi Romani, it owes its existence to the efforts of Prince Urbano Barberis, the president, Carlo Galazzi Paluzzi, secretary general and a large committee, including the best living authorities upon Roman art and history of the nineteenth century.

The result of several months' hard work and assiduous collection among patrician families, public and private galleries, and colleges in which foreigners study when they come to Rome, there is a very fine documentation of one of the most variegated centuries the Eternal City has witnessed in its long history.

The century started with the still bright star of triumphant Napoleon; it saw his fall, the growth of liberalism in Rome, the flight of Pope Pius IX from the city where the popes had held sway for centuries, the establishment of the Roman republic, its fall, Pope Pius IX's return, the entry of French troops to support the pope against the Italians, Garibaldi's entry, the voluntary imprisonment of the pope in the Vatican, the entry of Italian troops and the proclamation of Rome, so long the city of the popes, as the capital of free and united Italy, with the House of Savoy as one and only sovereign and the beginning of a constitutional government with parliamentary representation.

These events are set forth in the fifty rooms of the exhibition by means of a rich and beautiful collection of pictures, statues, furniture, clothes, prints, maps, manifestoes, and innumerable objects of domestic life.

From the first train ever seen in Rome which was a gift to Pope Pius IX and stands complete in its funny wooden coaches with fretwork under the windows and red silk curtains, to the mordant wit in the album of caricatures of contemporaries by Prince Filippo Caetani, a forerunner of Don Gelasio Caetani, recently Italian ambassador at Washington, every object shown is a striking example of how different was life even at the close of the last century and how much Rome has lost its pic-turesqueness despite gains in progress.

Some of the finest furniture has been lent by the Pinelli museum in Rome itself, the late Count Pinelli having a wonderful collection of Napoleonic relics of all kinds. He was the last descendant of Napoleon's family living here and died only a couple of years ago.

All remember how Napoleon's sprightly sister, Pauline, who married Prince Borghese, shocked even the Romans when she posed for Canova, the great sculptor of the day, reclining nude upon a real Empire sofa. Her mother reproached her more bitterly than anybody else, and Pauline replied: "Well, Mamma, the room was well warmed."

Well, the sofa is there, a perfect model of mahogany furniture of Napoleon's day. The statue is in another Roman museum, in the Villa Borghese, Pauline's own room, now national property. And Canova's portrait is there, by the greatest painter, Lawrence, who often left London to paint for Roman sun and knew the artists' quarter well.

And, there are popes' portraits in plenty, and cardinals, and leaders of the revolutionary movement which ended in the fall of papal temporal power.

John Slover.

BY J. H. GALBRAITH

John Slover, who was the pilot of Crawford's unfortunate expedition against the Indians, occupied the fate of Colonel Crawford by the narrowest margin. He had been captured by the Indians when a boy of eight and for six years lived with the Miamis in southwestern Ohio. When he was twenty, he accompanied a party of Indians to Fort Pitt to negotiate a treaty. There he met white friends, and was induced to return to civilization. He served fifteen months in the Revolutionary war and then married and settled down in West Moreland county, Pennsylvania.

He was secured to pilot the Crawford expedition because of his acquaintance with the Ohio country. He was reported missing in the engagement about the same time Colonel Crawford was. With several others, he left the main body and started off through the woods.
He was finally overtaken and captured. He was beaten, and required to run the gauntlet, the Indians having recognized him as having once been with them, and singularly, one of the party that took him this time, had been with the party that took him when he was a boy. He was told that he was to be burned, and the Indians stripped him and blackened his body in preparation. He was tied to the post and the fire started around him, but a sudden downpour of rain put the flames out and it being late in the afternoon, the burning was postponed until the next day. That night he managed to slip the cords from his hands and stole a horse. With only a blanket to cover his body he rode away. Through Logan, Union and Delaware counties he rode, crossed the Scioto, but after reaching a point twenty-five miles beyond, his horse fell and he continued on foot.

He tried to get a little sleep, but the sting of nettles and mosquito bites made it impossible and he hurried on, crossing the Muskingum and reached New Comerstown. Berries constituted the only food he had since his escape. Reaching the Ohio river opposite Wheeling, he induced a man he saw on the other side to take him across, and on July 10 reached Fort Pitt, from where he had set forth with his expedition May 25, being the last of the stragglers on the expedition to arrive.

Classy Ashland Quint Is Next Foe for Harding Five

PRESIDENTS TO FACE DIFFICULT BARRIER ON FOREIGN COURT

Mansfield Meets Shelby, Gallon Tackles Bucyrus in Other N. C. O. Games.

Harding High school's basketball team, inspired as a result of having handed Bucyrus a commenced preparation last week, commenced preparation yesterday afternoon for a clash with one of the toughest teams in the North Central Ohio league. The Presidents will invade Ashland Friday night to do battle with Professor C. D. Starn's warriors, with undisputed possession of second place and a possible tie for first hinging directly on the outcome of the battle.

In the other two N. C. O. games on this week's schedule, Mansfield's league-leading Tiger combination will entertain the Shelby Whippets and the Gallon Orangemen will invade Bucyrus for a battle with the Redmen.

With all four teams tearing along at a break neck pace, there is every indication that the Harding-Ashland and Shelby-Mansfield conflicts will be a pair of the most bitterly fought contests of the season to date. This, despite the fact that with two exceptions every league game played this season has been of the close and hard-fought variety.

Has Beaten Ashland Harding holds over victory over the Starnmen, having recorded a 29-23 win over the Ashlanders here in the second game of the season. This victory, however, will mean exactly nothing when these two contenders for the championship lock horns again. Both need the victory this week. A defeat will virtually eliminate them from the race for the championship. Both are tied for second with four victories and a pair of losses, one game behind Mansfield with five wins and a single setback.

Shelby's defeat at the hands of Ashland last week sounded what is likely to be the death knell for the Whippets as far as the championship is concerned but it put the Young-Coached team in such a fighting frame of mind that Mansfield is likely to run into a stone wall of opposition this week. A defeat for Mansfield will throw the race into a free-for-all again with two teams tied for the top point and another only a game behind. A victory will keep Mansfield in the van position by a single game.

Gallon vs. Bucyrus Gallon and Bucyrus will battle it out this week to see who goes into undisputed possession of the cellar position. Advance dope points to a victory for the Orangemen although Bucyrus held them to a two point victory in a first round contest. Bucyrus apparently is doomed to last place this season, having won but one game in six starts. However, the victory came at the expense of Mansfield and that is something to cheer about from a Bucyrus point of view.

Harding is also booked for a Saturday night conflict this week. The Presidents will make the second out-of-town trip in two nights when they invade Crestline Saturday for a fray with Crestline High school. This is not a league game and Harding will make no special preparations for it, concentrating on the attempt to turn in two victories in one season over Ashland.

BISHOPS COMPILE GOOD RECORD UNDER DETRICK

BY JAMES L. BENICK Associated Press Sports Writer DELAWARE, O., Feb. 9 - Here in this college town, the home of Ohio Wesleyan university, they take their basketball seriously. They serve a little of it with their meals and go to sleep thinking about the game.

Contests are fought over and over on the street corners and Edwards gymnasium is packed to the rafters when the university team appears at home.

And there's one fellow who probably could run for mayor on a basketball ticket and receive the vote of every Democrat and Republican in town. He is Raymond O. Detrick, head coach of the Ohio Wesleyan quintet.

"Detrick" or Ray, as he is usually called, is completing his sixth year as mentor of the Battling Bishops, and his eleventh in the coaching game. Despite his years of service, he is the youngest coach in the Buckeye Athletic association, only 32 winters old.

Has Great Record During the past 10 years Detrick has built up a record that is the envy of every instructor in the country.

His teams have won a total of 134 games against 18 defeats. In compiling this record his quintets have never finished below second place. He has won three Ohio conference championships, two Buckeye Athletic association titles and finished second three times in that circuit.

Detrick started his basketball career as a player with Springfield college and then graduated to Wittenberg college where he was selected as an all-Ohio player for three years.

Direct from the classroom he started coaching at Mount Union college and won three consecutive Ohio conference titles, going the last two years undefeated. From Mount Union he went to Highland Park high school in Detroit, one of the largest public schools in the city. His team lost four games, two to the same opponent, one in the city league finals and the other in the state tournament finals.

About that time Ohio Wesleyan was scouting around to find a coach to take the place of George Van Alstyne, and decided upon Detrick. His record at Wesleyan has been exceptional.

Defends the Game Detrick rushes to the defense of basketball. He likes the game the way it is, despite all the yowling of critics crying for changes of the rules.

"There's just one change I would like to see made," he says. "I would like it to be permissible for a player to decline a foul and take the basket. If he has made it. Often you see a boy go in fast and get fouled. He may go on and make the basket, but it isn't allowed. I don't believe that's fair. It should be the same as in football where a team has in the pool of declining the penalty.

"Basketball is at its peak right now," he continued, "which way it will go depends entirely on the man who declines a foul and takes the basket. If he declines a foul and takes the basket, it is a game of action and that is what the fans want. If coaches continue to let their teams stall and play around in the back court, the game will lose considerable popularity. Give the fans a fast breaking offense, they like action."

CALVARY RISKS LEAD TONIGHT IN BATTLE WITH REFORMED FIVE

Fast Conflict Likely as Contenders Fight to Stay in Race.

Calvary Evangelical's chance of winning the city Sunday school basketball crown will go on the block tonight when the co-leaders of the church circuit clash with First Reformed on the Y court in the sandwich game of a triple program. Calvary hurdled into a tie on the top post by beating Forest Lawn last week and now walks right into a stumbling block in the person of the fifth place Reformed quintet.

The other two games tonight will match Lee Street Presbyterians with St. Mary's in the opening game at 7:15 and Forest Lawn with Trinity Baptist in the nightcap at 8:45.

The Calvary clash with First Reformed will be the only game tonight which will have any bearing on the championship of the league. First Reformed does not have a chance to win the crown but a victory over Calvary would give the Prospect street team a lot of satisfaction. The battle between these two teams should provide four quarters of thrilling competition. First Reformed, with its slam bang offense, can always be counted on to put up a good battle and Calvary has a clearly demonstrated season that it is capable of stepping out with the best of the city church teams.

Lee Street's only incentive to win will be to escape a tie for last place which it now occupies with the United Brethren quint. St. Mary's has had an in and out season, playing good ball one night and mediocre the next so the outcome tonight is doubtful.

Forest Lawn and Trinity Baptist should put on another interesting conflict tonight as they battle for a higher niche in the standings column. Neither is conceded much of an edge.

REISELT BEATEN BY KIECKHEFER IN FINAL

Southpaw Chicagoan Cops Billiards Title for Tenth Time by Victory.

By The Associated Press CHICAGO, Feb. 9 - Augie Kieckhefer of Chicago, a southpaw shooter by necessity, was king of the three-cushion billiard world for the tenth time today.

The diminutive Chicagoan, forced to turn southpaw years ago when he lost the sight of his left eye, ascended to the throne last night by routing his old rival, Otto Reisel of Philadelphia, 50 to 27 in 40 innings.

Striking along at his best, Kieckhefer took the lead, staved off a threat in the early innings, and then dashed off to a long lead, simply shattering his rival's technique and billiard morale.

His victory sent him into a tie as champion of champions of the three-cushion domain with Johnny Layton of Sedalia, Mo., who also has captured the crown 10 times. But the victory won by Kieckhefer was probably the most valuable of them all as it gave him an annual salary of $8,000, $1,200 in cash, 10 percent of the net gate receipts and a diamond emblem, worth another $1,000. A good attraction, Kieckhefer was expected to add at least $10,000 more during the year in exhibitions.

Two play-off matches remained on the schedule today, one involving Reisel and Arthur Thurnblad of Chicago, the dethroned champion, for second place, and a match between Layton and Frank Scoville of Buffalo for fourth place.

Wildcats Trip Hoosier Five; Purdue Stops Ohio

BY WILLIAM WEEKES Associated Press Sports Writer, CHICAGO, Feb. 9 - The task of catching Northwestern in the western conference basketball title race was just one game more difficult today, and one more team, Ohio, was just about out of the running.

Northwestern came from behind last night to defeat Indiana 29 to 25, for its seventh straight victory. The Wildcats trailed by 14 to 12 at halftime, and it required some great shooting by Joe Reiff, to get Northwestern out in front at the finish. The defeat, Indiana's fifth in six games, left the Hoosiers tied with Iowa for eighth place.

The two other games were just as exciting. Purdue just managed to defeat Ohio State, 38 to 33, as the stubborn Buckeyes tied the score three times in the last period, forced the contest into overtime, then writhed under the pace. Purdue climbed into third place with three victories and one defeat, while Ohio was in sixth place with three victories and three defeats.

Minnesota remained in second place, but found Iowa plenty tough. The Gophers got up in time to win by 24 to 22, however, and made it five triumphs in six games. Wisconsin squared up for an early season setback by outpointing Marquette, 18 to 16, at Madison.

With the left hook that won him fame, Dempsey knocked Buck Everett of Gary, Ind., and Jack Roper, Los Angeles, Cal., all over the ring. His popularity at the box office netted him approximately $6,000. Everett and Roper each hit the canvas, Everett three times, and Roper once.

Former Notre Dame Grid Star Loses First Fall, Then Grabs Next Two.

BY KARL McELROY The idol of the football field became the favorite of the mat here last night when "Jumpin' Joe" Savoldi made his first Marion appearance before 2,200 wrestling fans at the Steam Shovel gym.

Savoldi, who raced his way to fame as a member of one of Knute Rockne's greatest Notre Dame football teams, had a tough battle in disposing of Carl Davis, the Columbus young heavyweight.

Davis gave everything he had but it was just a shade short of being enough to stop the jumpin' one. Davis won the first fall in 0:24:25 with a slam and body chancery after punishing Savoldi with toe and arm holds.

The famous Savoldi flying tackle evened up things as the Notre Dame star battered his way toward victory. A series of flying tackles had Davis all but down but he was saved by the ropes. Returning to the center of the ring, Savoldi slammed him to take the fall in 14 minutes. An airplane swing and slam gave Savoldi the deciding fall in 10 minutes.

Marion fans can't see too much of Paddy Mack, that up-and-coming Nebraska lightweight. Mack entrenched himself more firmly in the hearts of the fans by trimming Jack McCoy of Nashville, Tenn., in straight falls.

Mack gave one of the finest exhibitions of wrestling ever seen here. McCoy, who was inclined to rough it up, got the worst end of that. A top-arm scissors gave Mack the first fall in 19:30 and he took the second with a flying body scissors in 9:30.

Larry Straub of Columbus defeated Red Morris of Washington, C. H. in the preliminary. The match lasted 13 minutes with Straub winning after applying a back slam and a body chancery.

WAS one reporter embarrassed! Positively red-faced and no fewer than 12 persons around to witness the debacle. Walking briskly into Central Junior High school the other afternoon, the reporter was just in time to see Cecil Gabler, a member of the faculty, giving a pledge of some sort to a sizable group of boys. They were raising their hands and the reporter arrived just on the upswing of arms. Gaily she waved greetings, acknowledging the wholesale welcome. Then the whole affair dawned and with a feeling of nausea she hid the offending hand in a pocket and scooted into the principal's office.

Fear of the Law

TWO plain clothes men from the police department were given a laugh several days ago when they called at a home in the city to make an arrest. A member of the family who answered their knock became so frustrated when he saw the policemen through the glass of the door that instead of turning the knob and opening the door as one would do under ordinary circumstances, he raised his hand and rapped lustily on the door. It was several seconds before he realized that he was not doing the right thing.

Venus Has Appeal

VENUS hasn't lost appeal yet. At least not in the South End residence section of Marion. Venus caused quite a bit of excitement in the neighborhood recently. Several persons glanced heaven-wards, noticed an unusually brilliant star, and began phoning friends. The neighborhood of Girard avenue and Pearl street became quite abuzz with excitement. Neighbors became even more neighborly in a house-to-house canvass to learn what was happening in the skies. A check with a World Almanac deflated wild hopes of something unusual, however. The "star" was none other than the planet, Venus, at present one of the evening stars.

Really Appreciated

SOMETHING like 15 or 20 "guests" of the city and transient "flops" who were housed in the city prison one night recently are probably thankful that some girls do not have very big appetites.

Having completed an evening of festivities a group of the fair sex found themselves with a considerable supply of sandwiches, etc. left on their hands—on trays then, thank you.

Why they thought of donating the left-overs to the prison visitors none of the donors revealed but suffice to say they carted all of the food to the city building and turned it over to Night Desk Sergeant Ora DeWees for distribution.

And did those sandwiches last long—just about as long as a lamb in Wall street. Maybe being a member of the Knights of the Road isn't such a bad racket after all.

SIX MEN ARE FINED IN CHICKEN THEFTS

MT. GILEAD, Feb. 9.—Oren Landon, Robert Landon, Samuel Sparks, Lee Sherman, Robert Kelfer and Luther Howard all of near S. Woodbury and Fargo were assessed fines of $50 and costs when they pleaded guilty to charges of chicken stealing before Justice W. M. Kaufman.

They pleaded guilty to stealing approximately 25 chickens from the farms of F. M. Bonham, Frank Saltz, John Buck and Frank Patrick on three nights in December.

MAYOR SUBMITS FIRST REPORT

The report of Mayor W. C. Phillips for the month of January, the first to be submitted by the mayor since his inauguration, submitted to city council at its meeting last night showed $3 collected in building permits, $14 in licenses, $4.75 in registrations and $5 in license fees from projectionists.

A recommendation from Mayor Phillips that a permanent flower committee consisting of Mrs. Madeline Gieseler, deputy municipal court clerk, Miss Rhea Cardiff, bookkeeper in the office of the garbage collection department, and Councilman Frank Stanley from the Fifth ward, be appointed, was also approved by council last night and the committee appointed.

HOW ONE MAN LOST 22 POUNDS

Mr. Herman Runkis of Detroit writes: "A few lines of thanks from a rheumatism sufferer—my first bottle of Kruschen Salts took all the aches and swellings out of my joints—with my first bottle I went on a diet and lost 22 pounds and now I feel like a new man."

To lose fat SAFELY and quickly take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast. For your health's sake ask for and get Kruschen—the cost for a bottle that lasts 4 weeks is but a trifle at any drugstore in the world and if after the first bottle you are not joyfully satisfied with results—money back. Henney & Cooper and all good druggists will be glad to supply you.—Adv.

W. G. SLACK OPPOSES POLICY OF COUNCIL

Damage to Property Should Be Paid by Departments.

Any damage incurred by any city department in the future, will be paid for out of that department's fund instead of the general fund, if W. G. Slack, councilman-at-large, ex-chairman of the finance committee, council has anything to do with it.

In explaining at the meeting of city council last night why he opposed the payment of $3.25 to Miss Elizabeth Raub at the last meeting of council, for damages to her automobile when it was scraped by a truck of the city garbage collection department, Councilman Slack said in the last year several hundred dollars had been paid by council out of the general fund for damages incurred by city trucks. He said he believed a number of such mishaps were the result of carelessness and in the future would recommend that any damages be paid out of the fund of the department responsible for the damage.

Council last night, however, passed a resolution authorizing the payment of $3.25 to Miss Raub.

The Stars Say—

For Wednesday, Feb. 10.

A FAIRLY active day, with a disposition to hard work and serious application to affairs in hand, is presaged from the predominant lunar transits. However, it may prove difficult to make much headway, as superiors or those in authority may not look with kindly eyes on efforts put forth. This may dispose one to fly into tantrums, which would be quite unwise. The greatest gain will be made in the realm of letters, writings and publishing interests.

Those whose birthday it is may have a fairly active year, with much effort to push the affairs with earnest industry and application, but meeting with little satisfaction or financial profit. A child born on this day may be versatile, hard-working and practical, but may be rash, impetuous and hasty.
